Continental Studios has worked with Midwood for quite a few decades. When I became the new yearbook adviser, the staff made my transition into the new role quite easy because they already knew so much about how our building functions. They were able to reach out to the right faculty members at Midwood and coordinate dates to take photographs in a timely fashion without my having to step in. When deadlines are near, they do everything in their capabilities to make sure it is met. So far, in working with Continental for the last four years their service has been excellent. They really go above and beyond to make sure they have our students' and faculty members' best interest in mind.

Sincerely,
Farhana Hoque
